In order to share your keyboard and mouse remotely, all you have to do is press the dongle sharing button on the left, and connect to the desired computer. Your computer will automatically be aware of the new mouse and keyboard connected to it. Thats it! Donglify can be used to share an unlimited number of non-vulnerable dongles to a single computer at the same time. The dongle sharing feature can be easily controlled by settings. For instance, you can restrict access to computers or limit access per user. You need to give one of your credentials to a trusted friend or colleague to install Donglify on the remote computer. Once the configuration is complete, the connected dongle will automatically be shared to the remote user and also turned off to prevent others from using it. Using the dongle sharing feature, it is easier to share between a number of computers. Instead of having to manually repeat the sharing process every time, just select the computers that share the dongle and allow them access to it. Fusion Connect lets DaVinci Resolve and Avid Media Composer editors take advantage of Fusions massive visual effects and motion graphics toolset, right from their timelines! Editors can select individual clips or layers of clips and send them to Fusion. A new Fusion composition is automatically created and linked dynamically back to the timeline. You can work on the VFX and motion graphics yourself or, if youre on shared storage, let another artist work on them for you. Once the Fusion composition is rendered, the shots are automatically updated back in the DaVinci Resolve or Avid Media Composertimelines!
